LSS support programs are designed to help clients take full advantage of their software investment and improve their litigation process.

Litigation Support Solutions was founded and is headed by principal Ilyse J. Phillips. LSS's primary focus specializes in complex automated litigation support procedures and services to the legal community. Ilyse and her staff have more than 15 years combined experience in the legal field as a consultant, educator and trainer in litigation technology. This experience includes computerized document management, as well as in-depth knowledge of procedures and the complicated aspects of testimonial and deposition proceedings. LSS is experienced in a broad range of legal-specific hardware and software protocols.

Her firm provides full-service training and application from the discovery process through and including trial proceedings. Ilyse and her firm have attained many Certifications which allows her to represent, train and consult in a broad range of software applications as well as provide the necessary Continuing Legal Education credits to the legal community, in addition to the National Association of Legal Assistants (NALA).

LSS's fine reputation has afforded Ilyse and her staff the opportunity to consult with some of the largest civil and criminal litigation law firms. Her firm's experience encompasses training, litigation support and consulting services to law firms, governmental agencies and private industry throughout the United States.

Well respected within her industry, Ilyse contributes feature editorial to the legal and technology trade publications and conducts educational and informative seminars on using today's new technology in the litigation arena.
